One of the redeeming aspects of social media is that some of the sites will let you see what you posted a year ago, three years ago, etc. In that way, it serves as a photo book that I remember from my youth where I could place printed photos on a sticky paper sheet and then cover it with a corresponding clear plastic sheet. Last week, our oldest boy, Malachi, turned eight. Therefore, on social media, I got to see all of the posts that I previously did on his birthday.

Wow, kids grow up way too fast! It is amazing to see how they change from year to year. My first thought is that he is one year away from being halfway to graduating from high school. Yikes!

One of the many ways that I understand God is to be a Divine Parent. Thus, I imagine God looking back through the years with me. I hear that I grew up fast. In fact, I grew so fast during my freshman year of high school that I had some faint stretch marks on my lower back because - apparently - my skin could not keep up with my growth! Still, throughout the years, I felt God in those moments and now (looking back) cheering for me as I was on my journey.

Most of the folk who I meet who do not go to church talk about an understanding of God that is foreign to me. It is an understanding of God as judgmental, vengeful, petty, etc. I try to share what it means to know God as the One going through the sticky papers, corresponding sheets, and printed photos with names and dates on the back while proclaiming "This is my beloved child!" Of course, I need to be willing to share this story - my story. I think that people in your life need to know about the God who loves to reflect upon your journey--not just on your birthdays, but on each day. We may grow up too fast. We may outpace our skin and wisdom at times. Yet, our God still cheers us on! May you join me in sharing this beautiful story with our neighbors!

Together,

Pastor Jeth

“Relating to Others: Bodies Matter”

1 Corinthians 15: 12-23

Rev. Dr. Jonathan B. Hall

Our text on Sunday is 1 Corinthians 15:12-23. Paul seems to care a lot about our bodies. At first glance, it is a complicated read. However, what if Paul is correct? What if our bodies matter? What if our experiences matter? What if the experiences of others who differ from us matter? It opens us to some interesting invitations if we take these words seriously! Pastor Jonathan’s sermon is entitled “Relating to Others: Bodies Matter.”

THIS SATURDAY

Celebration of the Life of
SUE MALOTTE

Celebration of life service for Sue Malotte is scheduled for this Saturday, May 11, at 1:00 PM in the sanctuary. Reception to follow in the Social Hall.

Celebrating One Hundred Years: THE NGU FAMILY

Our church has had 3 refugee sponsorships through Church World Service since World War II. The Ngu family from Vietnam was one.

Forty-six years ago, the Bon Ngu family, an ethnic Chinese family consisting of 7 adults and four small children left Vietnam in a small boat loaded with 287 people. They had become “Boat People” spending days and nights on the open seas without food or fresh water. They found themselves landing at Bidong, a Malaysian island that had opened up as a refugee camp in 1978, the year the Ngu’s arrived, and by June 1979 there were 40,000 refugees crowded in an area not much bigger than a football field.

While the refugee camps are part of the jurisdiction of the United Nations, it is various religious groups and non-secular groups which distribute food and necessities provided by the UN, the host country and their own organizations. Health care is at a minimum.

Church World Service distributes the applications of the refugees seeking their relocation to the United States to potential congregations willing to accept a family to sponsor for resettlement here. It took the Ngu’s 2 years before being able to get accepted here because of a special needs child.

Some of our church family representatives such as Sue Malotte, Margaret and Bert Wilkes, Ethel and Janet Bruce and more got to work quickly after a family was chosen and approved for us. Once a family was approved, the congregation usually had 4-8 weeks to get all the items organized and in place to create a potential relocation success.

Tasks that are potentially needed are finding possible employment; locating a doctor or clinic to oversee inoculations; arranging housing, furnishings, utilities and food and clothing. Refugees arrive with little more than what is on their backs.

The Bon Ngu family that came to our church was only part of the family that left Vietnam by boat in 1978. An older son with a wife and four children were sponsored by an Illinois church so that he was near his brother who came over 5 years earlier.

Our part of the family hit a number of delays because of their special needs child and his health issues. It was Dr. Hallie Mont, a member of the congregation, who navigated the obstacles for the family.

It was after their final arrival on April 20, 1980, at LAX that the adventure started for the family as strangers in a strange land. The parents were almost immediately given a chance to speak to the oldest children who came before them. One son had been here 5 years and now the parents could hear his voice again.

The family consisted of Bon, the father; Yen, the mother; the older daughter, Muoi, who spoke some English; Khoanh, the younger daughter who spoke English quite well; along with Ha, the special needs son.

Ten days after the Ngu family arrived there was an Indo-Chinese dinner fundraiser to supplement their reserve funds and to meet the family. This type of cuisine was new to a number of the congregation at that time.

Two months after arrival the children and young people of the church had gathered soap/paper products for the family providing even the children a way to be a part of a refugee-supporting community and a way to let the Ngu know that even young people CARE.

The daughters became near and dear to the hearts of the CWF ladies and were invited to presale shop at the “Oldies but Goodies” clothing sale that they had that year. CWF generously allowed them to come in and shop for the whole family clothing needs as their guests.

It was at this event that the girls tasted hot dogs for lunch with Margaret Wilkes, Ethel and Janet Bruce and Judy deLeuw with "the works" and it was reported that they liked it.

1980-81 The first year here the daughters were in college, learning English and relearning their area of study in English; also working to provide for their expenses while earning awards for outstanding scholarship.

Muoi attended Pierce College and Khoanh attended Valley College and had been accepted to UCLA to continue in a course for medicine.

This first year was celebrated with an Old-Fashioned Pot Luck meal on the usual Wednesday night dinner in the Social Hall.

The 1982 second anniversary was celebrated by another Wednesday night Pot Luck Dinner to celebrate family, fun, food and fellowship. The Ngu family reminisced about how the fear and anxiety in adjusting to a new life had been dissolved by our help and love. We had rented an apartment, furnished it, stocked the pantry and provided for the immediate needs of the Ngu family.

During this year of 1982 Muoi became engaged and wed another refugee, Muoi (unisex name) Truong who had been here 4 years under the sponsorship of the Lutheran Church in Pomona.

In the summer of 1984, we were celebrating the 4th anniversary of the Ngus arrival and the 1984 Los Angeles Olympics. Muoi and Khoanh had graduated from universities –both with honors.

Muoi Ngu Truong graduated from Northridge in Computer Science and awaited the birth of her child that year.

Khoanh Ngu graduated from UCLA, Phi Beta Kappa. In the fall she entered the Medical School at Stanford University.

1986 was the year the Ngu family gave a shout out to Margaret Wilkes and Ethel Bruce for having always given them spiritual support and encouragement.

Bon and Yen Ngu (Mom and Dad) were living with Muoi and her husband Muoi Truong. Grandma and Grandpa watched Bonnie when Muoi was employed in the Computer Sciences.

Khoanh Ngu continued with medical school at Stanford University.

April 1987, the 7th anniversary, had the news that three members of the family received their citizenship, Khoanh (who took an American name--Lynn Khoanh), Muoi and Richard Muoi Truong.

Khoanh wrote that she used to be confused about her identity. She was not accepted by the Vietnamese community because she was Chinese but also didn't belong to China or Taiwan because she had been born in Vietnam. She stated "This country is where I live, where freedom is and where I am accepted. How wonderful I feel!"

1992, twelve years after arriving here, found the Ngu's in a unique situation with the oldest daughter and husband being successful real estate agents living in Canoga Park with three daughters.

Bon, Yen and Ha were living in Santa Clara to be near Khoanh, now practicing medicine at a Kaiser clinic.

With a little digging on the internet, I have found that Lynn Khoanh Ngo (Ngu) MD still practices in the Santa Clara area and has a family. Muoi and Muoi Truong and first child Bonnie AKA Mona and Richard Truong and Bonnie Truong are still associated with the Chatsworth area as successful real estate agents. Bonnie followed in her parents' footsteps.

After meeting and knowing the Ngus for a short while, Sue Malotte, for whom there is a Celebration of Life this coming weekend, stated:

"It is my prayer that we who have such an abundance simply because of the circumstances of birth, will continue to proclaim the good news, as messengers of God, in recognition of our Lord, Jesus Christ."

VACATION BIBLE SCHOOL (VBS)

At Hero Hotline, kids are invited to learn from the heroes of the Bible! Our team of heroes will spring into action and explore the ultimate Hero Handbook - the Bible - to discover how all Heroes can follow the examples set by a cast of supporting Bible Heroes in stories from the Old and New Testaments, who work together to bring peace, build each other up, and share the great story of God's love for us.

As kids (called Heroes) experience these stories through music, drama and storytelling, games, arts and crafts, science, and even snacks, they'll learn that Heroes are called to Follow Jesus, Help Others, Work Together, Listen to God, and Show Grace! And, best of all, they'll be invited to answer this call at VBS, at church, at home, and in every area of their lives.

VBS is open to children who are ages 3+ and potty trained to 6th grade, and runs Monday, June 10th - Friday, June 14th from 9a-12pm. Aftercare from 12-3pm is available.
