NOISE

Excuse me, I can't hear you. Please speak louder.

It's noisy, it's fuzzy, harsh, and on point.
Noise pulls me, and pushes me, and lets me believe.
Spitting, Hating, screaming, and lying on me.

Excuse me, please say that again.

It's noisy, it's fuzzy, harsh, and on point.
Noise pulls me, and pushes me, and lets me believe.
Spitting, Hating, screaming

Excuse me, I am really trying to hear what you have to say. I can almost make it out. Please tell me again.

It's noisy, it's fuzzy, harsh, and on point.
Noise pulls me, and pushes me, and lets me believe.
Spitting,

Excuse me, I almost heard all of that. I missed one or two things. Say again, please.

It's noisy, it's fuzzy, harsh, and on point.
Noise pulls me, and pushes me, He lets me believe.*

Thank you.

Lord, I heard that.

In this Advent season I encourage you to lose the noise of hatred and screaming, and focus on the story He has been telling you for years. The story of the Christ child is so crucial. My hope for you is that you will hear it. He will continue to tell it even when it is too noisy. Just ask. Keep asking. He will continue to tell it.
